

Mystery of Neutrinos -- "Ghosts of the Universe"

- dailygalaxy.com
- March 28th, 2013
- view original

Every second some 65 billion neutrinos from the Sun's nuclear core pass through every centimeter of your skin every second. Stars are actively flooding the Universe with both new and relic neutrinos created two seconds after the Big Bang. These Ghosts of the Cosmos have yet to be conclusively detected, streaking through what to a neutrino is a completely transparent Universe in all directions --through gases, liquids, solids with little likelihood of ever interacting with anything.